

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments

PHYSIOLOGICAL CHARACTERISTICS OF ANIMALS DESTINED FOR LIVE AND ORNAMENTAL MARKETS

Physiological Responses of Blue Crabs (Callinectes sp.) to Procedures Used in the Soft Crab Fishery in La Laguna de Terminos, Mexico

Angela R. Danford, Roger F. Uglow, and Carlos Rosas

Effect of Long-Haul International Transport on Lobster Hemolymph Constituents and Nitrogen Metabolism

Angela R. Danford, Roger F. Uglow, and John Garland

Physiological Stress Response in Fish

George Iwama

Critical Oxygen Point in Yellowleg Shrimp (Farfantepenaeus californiensis): A Potential Species for the Live Seafood Trade

Lucía Ocampo V.

SOCIAL, ETHICAL, AND HUMANITARIAN CONSIDERATIONS

Animal Rights Advocacy, Public Perception, and the Trade in Live Animals

Paul G. Olin

Animal Ethics and the Live Aquatic Animal Trade

Bernard E. Rollin

LIVE HOLDING SYSTEM ENGINEERING AND WATER QUALITY

Holding Tank System for Reconditioning Transport of Live Cod Recently Captured in Deep Water

Hans-Peder Pedersen and Arnt Amble

Short-Term Holding and Live Transport of Aquatic Animals: An Overview of Problems and Some Historic Solutions

David J. Scarratt

Live Fish Handling Strategies from Boat to Retail Establishment

John Seccombe

ORNAMENTAL SPECIES INDUSTRY

Florida's Ornamental Marine Life Industry

Sherry L. Larkin, Donna J. Lee, Robert L. Degner, J. Walter Milton, and Charles M. Adams

Shipping Practices in the Ornamental Fish Industry
Brian Cole, Clyde S. Tamaru, Rich Bailey, Christopher Brown, and Harry Ako

The Ornamental Fish Industry
Craig A. Watson

LIVE SHIPMENT OF MARINE ALGAE AND AQUATIC PLANTS

Live Rockweed (Ascophyllum) used as a Shipping Medium for the Live Transport of Marine Baitworms from Maine
Stephen E. Crawford

Shipping and Handling the Marine Algae Macrocystis in Alaska
Thea Thomas

LIVE SHIPMENT OF MOLLUSKS AND CRUSTACEANS

Live Transport of the Great Scallop (Pecten maximus)
Toril Overaa

Handling and Shipping of Live Northeast Pacific Scallops:
Larvae to Adults
William A. Heath

The Harvest and Culture of Live Freshwater
Aquatic Invertebrates
Barry Thoele

Optimizing Waterless Shipping Conditions for Macrobrachium rosenbergii
John Kubaryk and Carol Harper

Keeping Baitfish Alive and Healthy in Holding Tanks:
Tips for Retail Outlets
Hugh Thomforde

What's New in Live Fish and Shellfish At-Sea Holding Systems:
High Tech and Low Tech
Mick Kronman

Opportunity or Threat? Implications of the Live Halibut
Fishery in British Columbia from the Harvester Perspective
Kim Mauriks

RESOURCE MANAGEMENT ISSUES AND THE DEVELOPING LIVE HARVEST INDUSTRY

Resource Management and Environmental Issues Concerning
Live Halibut Landings
Bruce M. Leaman

Sterling Pacific Halibut: A New Approach
Kim Mauriks

Resource Management Issues in California's Commercial
Nearshore Live/Premium Finfish Fishery
Christine Pattison

Shipping Live Fish into British Columbia, Canada:
Basic Regulatory Requirements
Dorothee Kieser

Resource Management Issues: Question and Answer Session
Bruce M. Leaman, Kim Mauriks, and Christine Pattison

MARKETING LIVE SEAFOOD AND ORNAMENTAL PRODUCTS

The Live Reef Food Fish Trade in Hong Kong:
Problems and Prospects
Yvonne Sadovy

Marketing Aspects of the Live Seafood Trade in Hong Kong and the People's Republic of China
Patrick S.W. Chan

Wholesale and Retail Marketing Aspects of the
Hong Kong Live Seafood Business
Patrick S.W. Chan

An Overview of Irish Live Crustacean Fisheries
Ian Lawler

The Construction of a Commercial Live Seafood
Transshipment Facility: Review of General Specifications
Jon Chaiton

An Insight into the Shanghai Market for Imported Live Seafood
Thomas Liu

REGULATORY CONCERNS ASSOCIATED WITH THE TRANSPORT OF LIVE AQUATICS

The National Seafood Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point
Program and the Live Seafood Industry
Donald Kramer

Restraints to Shipping Live Product: Lessons from the AquaSeed Corporation Experience
Per Heggelund

Shipping Live Aquatic Products: Biological,
Regulatory, and Environmental Considerations

John G. Nickum

NONINDIGENOUS SPECIES AND THE LIVE AQUATIC INDUSTRY: THE PROBLEM OF EXOTIC INTRODUCTIONS

Do Live Marine Products Serve as Pathways for the Introduction of Nonindigenous Species?

Annette M. Olso

Live Seafood: A Recipe for Biological and Regulatory Concern?

Todd W. Miller, John W. Chapman, and Eugene V. Coan

Review of Impacts of Aquatic Exotic Species: What's at Risk?

Paul Heimowitz

Impact of the Green Crab on the Washington State Shellfish
Aquaculture Industry

Charlie Stephens

LIVE SHIPMENT QUALITY AND SAFETY

A New Direction for Monitoring Lobster Meat Yield, Using Advances in Acoustic Probing

*R.J. Cawthorn, A. Battison, J. Guigné, K. Klein, Q. Liu,
A. MacKenzie, R. MacMillan, and D. Rainnie*

Using HACCP Principles and Physiological Studies to Improve Marketing Practices for Live Crustaceans

S. Gomez-Jimenez, R.F. Uglow, R. Pacheco-Aguilar and L.O. Noriega-Orozco

Live Seafood Holding Systems: Review of Systems and Components

John Chaiton

Participants

Index